THE PAVILION AT MOTHER MATILDA BEASLEY PARK

Mother Matilda Beasley Park became dedicated in memory of Mother Matilda Beasley, the first African-American nun in Georgia, who died in 1903. She founded the St. Francis Home for Colored Orphans. She became the honoree of the 2005 Georgia Heritage Celebration, which the Georgia Historical Society sponsored. The pavilion's design serves as a reminder of the site's historical context as a railroad depot during the mid-and-latter part of the 19th century.

CHIEF

THE DAVID M. GELLATLY
SOUTHWEST POLICE PRECINCT

1957-1968

Chief David M. Gellatly dedicated his work life to a public career in serving others. He began public service as a combat engineer in the U.S. Army. In his second tour of public service, he worked 30 years as a Police Chief in Jackson, Missouri (1971-1973), Addison, Illinois (1974-1980) and Savannah (1980-2000).

As evident of Chief Gellatly's leadership, the City of Savannah Police Department became a national model of professionalism as one of the first 100 law enforcement departments in America to earn certification from the National Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies. He implemented the precinct structure through the Community Oriented Policing Program to improve the relationships between police officers and neighborhoods, which helped to increase citizen involvement and enable police to identify crime patterns. He helped to develop and implement the first set of policies and procedures for the police department and introduced cutting-edge technology in data analysis, law enforcement data processing, communications, and emergency dispatch. With the reputation as a "Cop's Cop," Chief Gellatly increased police officer training and programs to pursue degrees. With a Master's Degree in Public Administration from Roosevelt University in Chicago, he understood how education could lead to professional advancement.

In 2000, Chief Gellatly began his third tour of duty in public service—this time as the elected District 6 representative on the Chatham County Commission. During his 12 years in office, he never wavered in his commitment to fund public safety as the highest priority and championed constructing two new police precincts in unincorporated Chatham County and funding for a new police headquarters for the merged Savannah-Chatham Metropolitan Police Department. During his 12 years on the County Commission, the County funded or completed more than $300 million in capital projects.

Chief Gellatly built his career on unquestioned integrity and an unwavering commitment to serve and protect, and by his lifetime of achievements dedicated to public service, he earned the right to be called the consummate professional and to be honored by this recognition today.

THE PETTE LIAKAKIS GOVERNMENT BUILDING

When asked about why he worked so tirelessly on behalf of others, Pete Liakakis often referred to his father's favorite Greek saying:

Νά οὐρὴς τὸ καλὸτερο τοῦ ποιοῦς εἰς ὅλα τὰ ἐργὰ σου, εἰς τὰ μεγάλια καὶ εἰς τὰ μικρά.

Translated: We should always do the best we can even in the small things.

A review of his public and community service proves that Chairman Liakakis lived by these words. Chairman Liakakis served as Chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Chatham County, 2005-2012; Chairman of the Chatham Area Transit Authority, 2005-2013; Chairman, Chatham Urban Transportation Study Committee/CORE, 2005-2012. Prior to public leadership with Chatham County, he served eight years as an At-Large (city-wide) Alderman on the Savannah City Council from 1996 to 2004. Besides serving on these governing boards, Chairman Liakakis also served on advisory committees for the Association County Commissioners of Georgia, including Chairman of the Economic Development & Transportation Policy Committee. He earned ACCG's Legislative Advocate Award.

Besides his contributions to good governance, Chairman Liakakis served on dozens of community and civic organizations. Recognition includes honors by many organizations as "Citizen of the Year" or "Elected Official of the Year"; "Legacy Award;" multiple times, "Service Award" and especially multiple times, "Veterans Service Award;" multiple times "Humanitarian Award." He is the founder of a rescue organization, Savannah Responds, which provides food and assistance to communities in need after disasters or climatic ravages.

Few leaders, whether political, civic or religious, can match his vigor, enthusiasm and motivation. His can-do vision and ability to seek consensus through a spirit of cooperation provide the basis for a career with unparalleled achievement. As testament to his motivation, those who pay tribute to his many accomplishments cross political party lines, religious preferences and racial backgrounds. By his lifetime of achievements, Pete Liakakis earned the honor for this recognition today.
